Warren Dunn

On behalf of the entire community at The Urban School, thank you for your candidness, your openness and your honesty. It is because you tell your story with such willingness and grace that our Telling Their Stories project has blossomed and thrived.

You have emerged from what no human being should ever have to undergo with an indomitable spirit and a passion for life, and for this, we are so grateful. In sharing this spirit with us, you have given us a beautiful gift we won't soon forget.

Your story is unparalleled, and we have been blessed not only with the privilege of hearing it firsthand, but also with the honor of putting it on display for the world. In that vein, your contribution to 20th century history education is unique and invaluable.
